U.S. BANKRUPTCY JUDGE

INTRODUCTION³

Pamela Hodges (“Claimant”) is acting pro se herein. She filed Proof of Claim No. 527 (the “Claim”) as an unsecured claim in the amount of $57,249.00, against Ditech Holding Corp. (f/k/a Walter Investment Management Corp.) (“Ditech”). The Consumer Claims Trustee (the “Trustee”) filed the Thirty-Eighth Omnibus Objection (the “Objection”)⁴ seeking to disallow unsecured proofs of claim, including the Claim, that lack sufficient information or documentation to establish their underlying merits.⁵ Claimant sent the Consumer Claims Trustee an informal response to the Objection (the “Informal Response”) that she did not file of record.⁶

Pursuant to the Claims Procedures Order,⁷ Claimant’s Informal Response adjourned the Objection to provide time for the Consumer Claims Trustee to schedule either a “Merits” or “Sufficiency” hearing on the Claim. Stacey Tutt is the Consumer Claims Trustee. Through her staff, she reached out to Claimant in an effort to address the matters raised in the Claim and Informal Response and resolve the Objection. Claimant did not respond to those efforts.

⁴ Thirty-Eighth Omnibus Objection to Proofs of Claim (Insufficient Documentation Unsecured Consumer Creditor Claims), ECF No. 3093.

⁷ Order Approving (I) Claim Objection Procedures and (II) Claim Hearing Procedures, ECF No. 1632 (the “Claims Procedures Order”).

In the wake of her unsuccessful attempts to resolve the Objection informally, and in accordance with the Claims Procedures Order, the Trustee filed a Notice of Hearing, scheduling a hearing on the Objection (the “Notice of Hearing”).⁸ She asks the Court to sustain the Objection and disallow and expunge the Claim under Rule 7041 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”) (incorporating by reference Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“Rule 41(b)”))⁹ for failure to prosecute the Claim. Notice of Hearing at 2. In support, the Trustee attaches a declaration in which she discusses, among other things, her attempts to contact Claimant in an effort to resolve the Objection (“First Tutt Declaration”).¹⁰ Claimant did not respond to the Notice of Hearing.

The Court held a hearing on the Claim (the “Merits Hearing”). The Consumer Claims Trustee appeared at the hearing, with her counsel. Claimant did not appear at the hearing. During the hearing, the Court granted the Trustee leave to supplement the record with copies of the correspondence she references in the First Tutt Declaration.¹¹ On February 28, 2025, the Trustee filed a declaration (“Second Tutt Declaration,”¹² together with the First Tutt Declaration, the “Tutt Declarations”), supplementing the record with copies of the correspondence that she cites in the First Tutt Declaration.

⁸ Notice of Hearing on Consumer Claims Trustee’s Omnibus Objections to Claims for Failure to Prosecute; Declaration of Stacey Tutt, ECF No. 5352, pp. 1-3.

⁹ An objection to a claim gives rise to a contested matter pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9014. See In re Live Primary, LLC, 626 B.R. 171, 190 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2021). Bankruptcy Rule 7041 is made applicable to this contested matter by Bankruptcy Rule 9014(c).

¹⁰ Notice of Hearing on Consumer Claims Trustee’s Omnibus Objections to Claims for Failure to Prosecute; Declaration of Stacey Tutt, ECF No. 5352, pp. 5-12.

¹¹ Minutes of Proceedings, ECF No 5397.

¹² Declaration of Stacey Tutt in Support of Consumer Claims Trustee’s Omnibus Objections to Claims for Failure to Prosecute, ECF No. 5388.

Based on the undisputed facts set forth in the Tutt Declarations, and for the reasons set forth herein, the Court disallows and expunges the Claim.

JURISDICTION

The Court has jurisdiction to consider this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the Amended Standing Order of Referral of Cases to Bankruptcy Judges of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York (M-431), dated January 31, 2012 (Preska, C.J.). This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b).

BACKGROUND

The Chapter 11 Cases

On February 11, 2019, Ditech and certain of its affiliates, including Reverse Mortgage Solutions (“RMS”) (collectively, the “Debtors”), filed petitions for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in this Court (the “Chapter 11 Cases”). The Debtors remained in possession and control of their business and assets as debtors in possession pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code. On February 22, 2019, the Court entered an order fixing April 1, 2019, as the deadline for each person or entity to file a proof of claim in the Chapter 11 Cases (the “General Bar Date”).¹³ The Court extended the General Bar Date for consumer borrowers to June 3, 2019.¹⁴ On September 26, 2019, the Debtors confirmed their Third Amended Plan, which went into effect on September 30, 2019.¹⁵

¹³ Order Establishing Deadline for Filing Proofs of Claim and Approving the Form and Manner of Notice Thereof, ECF No. 90.

¹⁴ Order Further Extending General Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim for Consumer Borrowers Nunc Pro Tunc, ECF No. 496.

¹⁵ Notice of (I) Entry of Order Confirming Third Amended Joint Chapter 11 Plan of Ditech Holding Corporation and Its Affiliated Debtors, (II) Occurrence of Effective Date, and (III) Final Deadline for Filing Administrative Expense Claims, ECF No. 1449.

The Consumer Claims Trustee is a fiduciary under the plan. See Third Amended Plan, art. I, § 1.41. The Consumer Claims Trustee is responsible for the reconciliation and resolution of Consumer Creditor Claims and the distribution of the Consumer Creditor Net Proceeds from the Consumer Creditor Recovery Cash Pool to holders of Allowed Consumer Creditor Claims. See id. As such, she is exclusively authorized to object to Consumer Creditor Claims. Id. art. VII, § 7.1.

The Claims Procedures Order

Under the Claims Procedures Order, a properly filed and served response to a claim objection, omnibus or otherwise, gives rise to a “Contested Claim.” See Claims Procedures Order ¶ 3(iv). A Contested Claim is resolved at a hearing, which can be scheduled as either a “Merits Hearing,” an evidentiary hearing on the merits of the Contested Claim, or a “Sufficiency Hearing,” a non-evidentiary hearing to address whether the Contested Claim states a claim for relief against the Debtors. Id. ¶ 3(iv)(a)-(b).

The Claim

In Claimant’s Official Form 410, Proof of Claim, she asserts an unsecured claim in the amount of $57,249.00. Claim at 1-2.¹⁶ The basis of the Claim is listed as “Negligence, Wrongful Foreclosure, Legal Fees Incurred.” Id. at 2. Claimant does not annex any documents to the Claim.

The Objection

The Consumer Claims Trustee seeks entry of an order disallowing and expunging the Claim due to insufficient information or documentation. Objection ¶ 3. She contends that upon review of the Debtors’ books and records, she determined that the Claim lacks merit. Id. ¶ 4, Ex. A at 1.

The Informal Response

On November 23, 2020, the Trustee's office reached out to Claimant requesting additional information to support her Claim. First Tutt Declaration, Ex. A at 6. On January 12, 2021, the Trustee's office received Claimant's Informal Response. Id. In her response, Claimant states that the basis of her Claim is that RMS wrongfully and negligently foreclosed on her property. Informal Response at 4. She attaches a copy of a complaint that she filed against RMS in the Superior Court in San Bernardino County, California. Id. at 9. Claimant states that in the Claim she is seeking reimbursement of the legal fees she incurred in that matter. Id. at 4.

The response includes monthly billing statements from her attorneys, Ziprick & Cramer LLP, covering the period from September 2017 through February 2019. Id. at 49-92. The January 2019 statement shows an outstanding balance of $49,559.01 in legal fees. Id. at 52. The February 2019 statement reflects additional legal fees incurred of $1,104.00, bringing the total outstanding balance to $50,663.01. Id. at 49. The Informal Response also includes a retainer agreement dated September 12, 2017, between Claimant and Ziprick & Cramer LLP. The retainer agreement provides for an initial retainer amount of $7,000 for the attorneys to represent Claimant in litigation against RMS. Id. at 39-46.

In total, the attorney billing statements and retainer agreement substantiate that the $57,249.00 amount of Claimant's Claim consists entirely of legal fees she incurred related to the litigation against RMS.

The Motion to Estimate

On March 23, 2023, the Consumer Claims Trustee filed a motion to estimate claims (the “Motion to Estimate”).¹⁷ The Motion to Estimate sought to estimate Claim No. 527 at $0.00 for the purpose of setting a distribution reserve. Motion to Estimate, Ex. A at 2. The motion further requested that the Claim be established as a Class 6 Consumer Creditor Claims that was not a 363(o) unsecured Consumer Creditor Claims, as defined by the Third Amended Plan. Id. ¶ 16. Claimant did not respond to the motion. By order dated May 9, 2023, the Claim was estimated at $0.00 and classified as a non 363(o), Class 6 Consumer Creditor Claim, as defined in the Third Amended Plan.¹⁸

Consumer Claims Trustee’s Correspondence

On December 13, 2024, the Consumer Claims Trustee sent a letter to Claimant (the “Trustee Letter”)¹⁹ via Priority Mail, which USPS records confirm was delivered on December 16, 2024. First Tutt Declaration, Ex. A at 6. The Consumer Claims Trustee also sent a follow-up email to Claimant on December 15, 2024. Id. During the Merits Hearing, the Consumer Claims Trustee explained that the substance of the email and the Trustee Letter is identical.

In her letter, the Consumer Claims Trustee identified the Claim and discussed the status of the Claim. Specifically, as to the latter, she advised that the Objection to the Claim is pending before the Court, Claimant failed to file a response to the Objection with the Court, and pursuant to the Motion to Estimate, the Court has estimated the Claim at $0.00, for the purposes of distribution. Trustee Letter at 1.

¹⁷ Consumer Claims Trustee’s Omnibus Motion to Estimate for Purposes of Distribution Reserves and to Classify Certain Proofs of Claim, ECF No. 4650. On or about March 23, 2023, Claimant was served notice of the hearing on the Motion to Estimate via first class mail and via email. See Affidavit of Service, ECF No. 4668, Ex. A-B.

¹⁹ A copy of the Trustee Letter is attached to the Second Tutt Declaration at pages 16-17 of Exhibit B.

The Trustee explained that pursuant to the Claims Procedures Order, the next steps in the claims resolution process are for the Trustee to file a written response to the Claim, for Claimant to submit additional information in support of the Claim, and for the Court to conduct a Sufficiency Hearing on the Claim. Id. She advised that “[i]f the court does not agree with your argument at the [S]ufficiency [H]earing, the claim will be disallowed, and you will not receive any compensation for the claim.” Id. She also explained that if, at the Sufficiency Hearing, the Court agrees with Claimant’s argument, it will thereafter schedule an “evidentiary hearing” at which the Court will determine whether Claimant is entitled to receive any money on account of the Claim. Id.

In substance, the Trustee advised that because Claimant did not file a response to either the Objection or the Motion to Estimate, and because the Claim has been estimated at $0.00, it is not clear whether Claimant intends to pursue the Claim. Trustee Letter at 1. In that light, she requested Claimant to file a claim withdrawal form if Claimant has decided not to pursue the Claim. Id. at 2. She also advised that “[i]f you wish to pursue your claim, please contact our office immediately,” in order “to schedule a time for a member of our office to discuss your claim with you.” Id. Given Claimant’s silence and failure, to date, to participate in the claims process, the Consumer Claims Trustee advised Claimant:

If you do not contact our office by January 10, 2024, the objection will proceed on an uncontested basis at the hearing on February 27, 2024. This means that your claim will be disallowed, and you will not be able to recover any money in this claims process.

Id. Claimant did not respond to the Trustee Letter or contact the Trustee.

Notice of Hearing

On January 30, 2025, the Consumer Claims Trustee filed the Notice of Hearing, providing notice to Claimant that a hearing on the Objection would be held on February 27, 2025. Notice of Hearing at 2.²⁰ The notice explained: “At the hearing the Consumer Claims Trustee will ask that the Court sustain the Objection[] under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7041 . . . for failure to prosecute, based on the Declaration attached to this Notice.” Id. The notice provided Claimant another opportunity to submit written information or argument in support of the Claim in advance of the hearing. Id. Moreover, the Notice of Hearing explained:

If you do not file and serve any response by February 13, 2025, the Bankruptcy Court may elect not to review any additional information or arguments and will instead rely on any information and arguments you previously provided to the Court when you filed your Claim and Response to the Consumer Claims Trustee’s Objection.

Id. at 3. Claimant did not respond to the Notice of Hearing.

LEGAL PRINCIPLES

Under section 502(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, “a claim . . . proof of which is filed under section 501 of this title, is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest . . . objects.” 11 U.S.C. § 502(a). Section 502(b) sets forth the grounds for disallowing a properly filed proof of claim. See 11 U.S.C. § 502(b); see also HSBC Bank USA, N.A. v. Calpine Corp., No. 07 Civ. 3088, 2010 WL 3835200 at *5 (S.D.N.Y. Sept. 15, 2010) (“All claims are allowed unless specifically proscribed by one of the nine exceptions listed in § 502(b).”) (citing Travelers Cas. and Sur. Co. of America v. Pacific Gas and Elec. Co., 549 U.S. 443, 449 (2007)).

²⁰ On or about January 30, 2025, Claimant was served the Notice of Hearing via first class mail and email. See Certificate of Service, ECF No. 5355, Ex. D, F.

Claims objections have a shifting burden of proof. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3001(f), “[a] proof of claim executed and filed in accordance with these rules shall constitute prima facie evidence of the validity and amount of the claim.” Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001(f). To rebut that prima facie case, “the objecting party must produce evidence equal in force to the prima facie case which, if believed, would refute at least one of the allegations essential to the claim’s legal sufficiency.” In re Brown, 615 B.R. 725, 738 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2020) (internal quotation marks omitted) (citation omitted), aff’d 2021 WL 510157 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 11, 2021). “If it does so, the burden shifts back to the claimant to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that under applicable law the claim should be allowed.” Id. (citing In re Rockefeller Ctr. Props., 272 B.R. 524, 539 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2000) (“Once an objectant offers sufficient evidence to overcome the prima facie validity of the claim, the claimant is required to meet the usual burden of proof to establish the validity of the claim.”)).

In her Objection, the Trustee asserts that the Debtors’ books and records do not reflect any amount due and owing to Claimant or that Claimant is otherwise among the Debtors’ creditors. She also asserts that Claimant has failed to provide sufficient information/documentation in support of the Claim. The Court finds that through the Objection, the Trustee has rebutted the prima facie validity of the Claim. Through her submissions to the Trustee to date, Claimant has not met her burden to allege facts that demonstrate, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the Claim is valid. Moreover, as set forth above, Claimant has failed to engage with the Trustee either in attempting to resolve the Objection informally out-of-court, or in litigating the Claim in-court, pursuant to the Claims Procedure Order.

Accordingly, the Trustee asks the Court to disallow the Claim pursuant to Rule 41(b), on the grounds that Claimant has failed to prosecute the Claim. Rule 41(b) states, as follows:

If the plaintiff fails to prosecute or to comply with these rules or a court order, a defendant may move to dismiss the action or any claim against it. Unless the dismissal order states otherwise, a dismissal under this subdivision (b) and any dismissal not under this rule—except one for lack of jurisdiction, improper venue, or failure to join a party under Rule 19—operates as an adjudication on the merits.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(b). The decision whether to dismiss a complaint for want of prosecution lies within the Court’s discretion. See, e.g., Minnette v. Time Warner, 997 F.2d 1023, 1027 (2d Cir. 1993); Peart v. City of New York, 992 F.2d 458, 461 (2d Cir. 1993). In exercising this discretion, the Court’s consideration is guided by five factors: (i) the duration of the plaintiff’s failures; (ii) whether plaintiff had notice that further delays would result in dismissal; (iii) whether the defendant is likely to be prejudiced by further delay; (iv) a balancing of the need to alleviate court calendar congestion with a party’s right to due process; and (v) the efficacy of lesser sanctions. Nita v. Connecticut Dept. of Env’tl. Protection, 16 F.3d 482, 485 (2d Cir. 1994).

In general, no one factor is dispositive. Jenkins v. City of New York, 176 F.R.D. 127, 129 (S.D.N.Y. 1997). Dismissal for lack of prosecution is “a harsh remedy to be utilized only in extreme situations.” Alvarez v. Simmons Market Research Bureau, Inc., 839 F.2d 930, 932 (2d Cir. 1988) (internal quotation marks omitted) (quoting Theilmann v. Rutland Hospital, Inc., 455 F.2d 853, 855 (2d Cir.1972)); Merke v. Rice, 649 F.2d 171, 173 (2d Cir. 1981) (holding dismissal for failure to prosecute is “an especially drastic remedy, reserved for rare occasions” (internal quotation marks omitted)).

Courts have established principles in bankruptcy cases regarding creditors’ obligations to provide documentation and respond to trustee inquiries. Creditors have an affirmative duty to respond to formal or informal requests for information regarding their claims. In re Heath, 331 B.R. 424, 436 (9th Cir. BAP 2005). When a creditor fails to respond to documentation requests, this failure itself can provide an evidentiary basis to object to unsupported aspects of the claim. Id. at 437.

A trustee is entitled to seek documentation regarding a creditor's claim, and failure to provide it may result in denial of the claim. In re Shank, 315 B.R. 799, 815-16 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 2004). Indeed, when only the creditor possesses the evidence needed to challenge a claim's validity, the objector's burden of production can be satisfied if the creditor fails to respond or responds inadequately when asked to provide this information through either formal discovery or informal requests. See In re Whitfield, 578 B.R. 273, 277-78 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2017); accord Campbell v. Verizon Wireless S-CA (In re Campbell), 336 B.R. 430, 436 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2005).

Creditors must respond promptly and fully to appropriate requests for information. If their failure to do so prevents an objecting party from determining the debtor's liability or the amount thereof, an objection based on insufficient documentation becomes appropriate. In re Shank, 315 B.R. at 816. When a creditor fails to respond in any manner (formal or informal) to both a pre-objection document request and to the insufficient documentation objection itself, courts may sustain the objection after notice and hearing. In re Porter, 374 B.R. 471, 483 (Bankr. D. Conn. 2007). This ensures that creditors cannot render Bankruptcy Rule 3001 toothless by simply ignoring documentation requirements. In re Depugh, 409 B.R. 84, 118 n.2 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2009).

ANALYSIS

On March 28, 2019, Claimant filed the Claim, seeking $57,249.00 in damages based on "Negligence, Wrongful Foreclosure, Legal Fees Incurred." Claim at 2. The Consumer Claims Trustee objected to the Claim, asserting it lacked sufficient documentation to support a claim against the Debtors. Objection ¶ 3.

The Court analyzes the Consumer Claims Trustee's request to dismiss the Claim for failure to prosecute under the five factors set forth in Nita, 16 F.3d at 485.

Duration of Plaintiff's Failures

After providing the Informal Response in January of 2021, Claimant has demonstrated a pattern of non-engagement with the claims process. Claimant has failed to take meaningful actions to advance the Claim despite multiple opportunities to do so. Claimant failed to respond to the Motion to Estimate filed on March 23, 2023, which sought to value the claim at $0.00. This non-responsiveness continued when Claimant failed to respond to the Trustee's December 15, 2024 email, and to the Trustee Letter, which was delivered on December 16, 2024. Most recently, Claimant did not respond to the Notice of Hearing or submit any additional information in support of the Claim. Finally, Claimant did not appear at the scheduled Merits Hearing.

This delay is problematic because the burden of proof rests with Claimant, who alone possesses the necessary supporting documents. Without Claimant's participation and submission of supporting documentation, neither the Trustee nor the Court can properly evaluate the validity of her Claim. The persistent non-responsiveness spanning multiple notices and communications, demonstrates that Claimant has effectively abandoned the prosecution of her Claim. In the context of these multiple failures, the Court finds that the duration of Claimant's non-engagement is substantial and weighs in favor of expunging the Claim.

Notice That Delays Would Result in Dismissal

The record establishes that Claimant received clear notice, through multiple channels of communication, that failure to participate in the claims process would result in the disallowance of the Claim. The Trustee Letter specifically advised Claimant that "[i]f you do not contact our office by January 10, 2024, the objection will proceed on an uncontested basis at the hearing on February 27, 2024. This means that your claim will be disallowed, and you will not be able to recover any money in this claims process.” Trustee Letter at 2 (emphasis omitted). This language left no doubt about the consequences of continued non-engagement.

Additionally, the Notice of Hearing explicitly stated that “[a]t the hearing the Consumer Claims Trustee will ask that the Court sustain the Objection . . . for failure to prosecute,” providing further notice of the potential disallowance of the Claim. Notice of Hearing at 2. These communications represented the Trustee’s attempts to engage with Claimant about the documentation and information needed to support her Claim, and convey the potential consequences of her continued non-responsiveness.

The fact that Claimant demonstrated a clear understanding of the proceedings through her initial participation in the claim process, but has since disregarded all communications from the trustee, suggests a deliberate choice to abandon the Claim rather than a lack of understanding of the process. Claimant’s disregard of the multiple clear warnings provided to her about the consequences of non-participation favor expunging the Claim.

Prejudice from Further Delay

The prejudice to the Debtors’ estate is substantial and multifaceted. The Claim fails on its face to establish any legal basis for recovering attorney’s fees under California law. The Debtors’ estate is denied the opportunity to properly evaluate the Claim due to Claimant’s non-responsiveness, while still having to defend against a claim that fails on its face to establish legal or factual merit. The Court has already granted the Motion to Estimate, valuing the Claim at $0.00, yet the Debtors’ estate continues to bear administrative costs associated with this unresolved Claim. Despite clear instructions that “if you do not file and serve any response by February 13, 2025, the Bankruptcy Court may elect not to review any additional information or arguments,”

Notice of Hearing at 3, Claimant has chosen not to engage in the process designed to resolve claims efficiently. This ongoing administrative burden without corresponding benefit to the claims resolution process creates prejudice that weighs in favor of expunging the Claim.

Balancing Court Calendar Congestion with Due Process

The balance favors expunging the Claim because Claimant has received, but failed to utilize, multiple opportunities for due process. As demonstrated by the Trustee's documented attempts to engage with Claimant, she provided Claimant with clear channels for her to present her support for the Claim. The Notice of Hearing explicitly guaranteed that "in either event, you will have an opportunity to be heard in court at the Hearing" and provided clear instructions for submitting additional information by February 13, 2025. Notice of Hearing at 2. The notice further advised that "if you file and serve a response by February 13, 2025, the Consumer Claims Trustee may file an additional response at least seven days before the hearing." Id. As noted in In re Porter, when a creditor fails to respond in any manner to both a pre-objection document request and to the insufficient documentation objection itself, courts may sustain the objection after notice and hearing. In re Porter, 374 B.R. at 483. Claimant was also directed to "refer to the Omnibus Objection to your claim, which you previously received, for additional information concerning the preparation, filing, and service of any papers in this proceeding," providing a complete roadmap for participation in the Claim process. Notice of Hearing at 3. Despite these extensive procedural safeguards, Claimant has not taken advantage of any opportunity to participate in the process. This balancing factor weighs in favor of expunging the Claim.

Efficacy of Lesser Sanctions

Claimant's prolonged non-engagement despite demonstrated ability to participate shows that lesser sanctions than disallowance of the Claim would be ineffective. The Claim lacks supporting documentation that only Claimant can provide, yet Claimant has refused to engage. Any further delay would be futile as Claimant has already disregarded multiple notices that directly affected her potential recovery, including the Motion to Estimate. No lesser sanction could cure these fundamental deficiencies in the Claim itself, nor is there any indication that additional time would result in Claimant's participation after such extensive non-engagement.

While disallowance of the Claim for failure to prosecute is a harsh remedy to be utilized only in extreme situations, the circumstances here present such an extreme situation. Each of the five Nita factors independently supports disallowance, and their cumulative weight makes disallowance of the Claim the only appropriate outcome.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court sustains the Objection and disallows the Claim.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
